DEVOPS
AS A SERVICE

Transforming Culture & Performance with Agile Software Development

Agility in software development and delivery is essential to keeping ahead of an ever-shifting business environment focused around digital transformation. Software delivery teams are expected to develop faster, test earlier, and release more frequently than ever before. DevOps, a business-driven approach to deliver solutions using agile methods, collaboration and automation offers a solution to this longstanding challenge.

DevOps will succeed when both Development and Operations teams align to collaborate and better understand the value that each team brings to the table. DevOps is intended to dismantle cultural bureaucracy and conflicting priorities by bringing operations into the development cycle earlier which can help companies achieve harmony and improve process automation, implement better procedures and refine workflows.

❯ Industry-Proven DevOps Experience

OSI Digital's DevOps as a Service solves the disconnect between Development and Operations by focusing on quality and continuous application development for the modern enterprise. Our DevOps services enable data-driven businesses to keep up with growing demands for performance-oriented software solutions and mobile applications that are both on-premise and cloud-based. OSI's DevOps as a Service leverages easily automated, stackable and virtual development tools.

The Challenges

❯ Poor selection of DevOps tools can delay your digital transformation journey

❯ Shortage of DevOps tool knowledge often leads to a drain on technical resources

❯ Poor integration of tools creates friction and bad coding practices leading to inefficiencies

OSI Digital

The Benefits

> Enable a shortened delivery cycle and faster speed-to-market
